The principal photograph offering at "Crandall's Grand Theater" today and tomorrow. The leading roles in this splendid photoplay are taken by Robert Harrison, Clarence Seymour, and George Pawcett.

The respective features of the bills at the Avenue Grand on Friday and Saturday of this week are "Three Green Eyes," picturing a wonderful all-star cast, and "Red Head," in which Alice Brady does perhaps the finest work of her long screen experience.

CRITERION.

"Bolshievism on Trial," one of the most timely photoplays subjects that has been seen on local screens in some time, will continue the attraction at the Criterion Theater the rest of the present week. This film presents a startling expose of the "red menace," at the same time presenting a lucid story well told, and replete with incidental thrills that beggar description.

Harry Chandler, noted Washington patent attorney, is one of the co-authors of this photoplay.

APOLLO.

Mabel Norman in "The Pest," a new photoplay release which affords the star unlimited opportunity to introduce novel comedy methods and to make new friends through the medium of her new character. Puckers, will be pictured at Crandall's Apollo Theater today.

Tomorrow Alice Brady will occupy the Apollo's screen as star of her latest brilliant shadow drama, "Red Head," in which she assumes the role of a cabaret dancer and really dances. On Friday Enid Bennett will be screened in "Partners Three," and Saturday, Ethel Clayton in her interesting film study of the life of a chorus girl, "Pettigrew's Girl."

TWO NEW STARS SHINE IN OPERA

LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR.

Henry Ashton and Lucio Antonio. The two new operatic stars made their Washington debut in a brilliant performance of Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor," at the Belasco Theater last night. This opera was given by the San Carlo Grand Opera company as the performance for the second night of a week of opera.

Miss Queenie Mario, in the role of the unhappy Lucia, and Romeo Bosca, as Edgar, made the performance of the tragic "Bride of Lammermoor," one of the finest that has been heard in this city. Miss Mario, an American singer, possesses a clear, beautiful soprano voice that won her ovation from a large audience at the close of the first act.

Bosca sang the part of Edgar with great power and marked dramatic effect. His voice, a rich, powerful tenor, was especially beautiful in the duet in the first act and in the death scene at the close of the opera.

Angelo Antonio sang the part of the selfish and mercenary Sir Henry Ashton, with ability and finish. The duet with Lucia in the second act was especially well done. Natalie Cervi, as Raymond, sang an impressive and dignified role.

Members of the cast were Antonio Cetti as Norman, Alice Homer as Alice, and Luciano Rossini as Lord Arthur Bucklaw.

A well-balanced and well-trained chorus added materially to the beauty of the performance. The work of the orchestra, conducted by Gaetano Meloni, was good, though there was an occasional tendency toward "overpowering the voices."

The performance last night was given for the benefit of the George Washington University Hospital. About $800 was raised.

The San Carlo company is to give "The Tales of Hoffman" as the matinee performance this afternoon. Miss Mario will sing the double role of Olympia and Antonia and Miss Estelle Wentworth a Washington girl, will appear as Gilda. Verdis "Aida" will be given tonight.

SCOUTS "BIT" TOLD BY BADEN-POWELL

To develop ties of friendship between all nations, to eliminate petty jealousies and to create brotherly love among all peoples, are some of the aims of the boy and girl scouts, as told by the "Times" this morning by Maj. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, chief of the Boy Scouts of Great Britain, and founder of the organization.

The distinguished leader of Boy Scouts arrived in Washington yesterday to participate, with Lady Baden-Powell, in the convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts, which is being held at the Hotel Hamilton, 1515 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

Incidentally, Maj. Gen. Sir Baden-Powell asserted that women should be filled with responsibility during the war—that they displayed abilities that earned them right to recognition which they had not before received.

Five Great Teachings.

Then he reverted to the scout movement.

"There are five teachings of the Girl Scouts organization—character, handicraft, happiness through recognition of nature and art, health, and service to others," he said. "But we are emphasizing also the duties of the home and motherhood. Not only through education, but through parental interest, do we expect to accomplish our aims. So we are calling on mothers and fathers to aid us."

"In Europe, during the war, the Girl Scouts did multitudinous duties. They filled posts as messengers in the departments; they collected papers and magazines for the soldiers; they even went into homes and cared for children, while father was at war and mother was in the munition factories."

"We aim to bring about a brotherly feeling between all nations. The war brought about a feeling of common brotherly love and an atmosphere where we want to perpetuate in the coming generation."

What the Boys Did.

"And the Boy Scouts did manifold duties. They relieved the naval coast guards, 30,000 of them; acted as signallers in the royal navy and in the auxiliary fleet; acted as orderlies; worked with the mine sweeping parties; cooked for crews; and worked as messengers at the military and naval bases."

"It made men and women of these boys and girls—it gave them inspiration, and they will be able to cope with world situations as presented in the future. We aim to continue to create this ambition and enthusiasm and make it lasting. The work should interest everyone. We are appealing to the mothers of the world to bring their children to the Girl Scouts organization and help educate and train the coming generation of women."

Strong in Great Britain.

Maj. Gen. Sir Baden-Powell said there were 260,000 Girl Scouts and 150,000 Boy Scouts in Great Britain.

This morning at 11 o'clock the distinguished visitor, who saw service in the Boer war, spoke at the convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts, which was held at the Food Administration Club, 1751 J street northwest.

A mammoth pageant in honor of Sir and Lady Baden-Powell will be given at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Sylvan Theater, Potomac Park. It will include a May pole dance, led by Miss Bertha Draper King, chorus singing, directed by Prof. Peter Dykeman, and music by the Engineer band. The pageant will be directed by Mrs. Marie Moore Forrest.

Badges for signal service in the Girl Scout movement will be presented at the pageant to ranking Girl Scouts by Maj. Gen. Sir Baden-Powell.

Tonight Col. Colin H. Livingstone will be host at a state dinner to Sir Baden-Powell. Tomorrow the Boy and Girl Scout leaders will be guests of members of the British embassy, and they will leave tomorrow night for Philadelphia to attend a Girl Scout rally in that city. From Philadelphia the distinguished guests will go to New York. It is likely that they will make an extensive tour of the United States before returning to England.

$200,000 POOL TO BLOD HOMES

A $200,000 pool to stimulate building in the District of Columbia is to be organized soon, according to plans outlined by P. T. Moran, vice president of the Lincoln National Bank.

The plan not only will be to develop suburban communities by purchasing ground and building, but to lend money to home builders to the amount of one-half the cost of construction under present prices of materials and labor.

Mr. Moran declared homes are needed so badly in the District now that houses built at a cost of $4,500 will find an immediate sale at $5,500.

The present slump in building, which was the cause of the organization of the District Commissioners' building stabilization committee, is believed to be due to two reasons. First, there is the hope that construction costs may come down, and second, banks have until recently only been willing to lend money to builders on the basis of two-thirds the cost, according to the old schedule of prices.

Recently Milton E. Allen, representative of the interests in building stabilization committee, announced the bankers of the city were recognizing that costs were probably up to stay and were lending 10 per cent more on the basis of two-thirds the loan value of new buildings to about 45 per cent of present cost.

Mr. Moran's plan will increase the amount to 50 per cent for the limited number of loans to $200,000 on each take care of. Twenty local capitalists each will subscribe to $10,000 worth of stock in the pool, according to Mr. Moran, which will have a far-reaching effect in stimulating building and increase business in Washington.

The Citizens' Savings Bank is making a loan out of its deposits to make its opening a month ago deposits have grown from $240,000 to more than $300,000. At a meeting of the board of directors yesterday the board was authorized to make a loan of $100,000 to the Citizens' Savings Bank, which will conduct a competitive campaign along the lines of increased deposits.

Decision on the time and place for holding the two-day bankers' convention of Washington men is expected to be held Friday afternoon to be held by the committee on conventions, of which John B. Lerner is chairman. The convention probably will be held in June. Three places are under consideration—Deer Park, Md., Old Point Comfort, Va., and Buena Vista, Va.

The local stock exchange adjourned today out of respect for the death of Edward C. Whitford, who died this morning. Clarence F. Norman, John T. Hendrick and Allan E. Walker were appointed a committee to attend the funeral.

Trading was light on the Washington Stock Exchange today. Ten shares of Capital Traction were sold at 86 and 87. Sixty-four shares of Washington Gas went over, 50 at 51, ten at 51 1/2, and four at 51 1/2. There were no sales after four.
